THE BANK OF ENGLAND. -There are some curious things about the working arrangements of the Bank of England. No note is issued of a less denomination than £2. Every note is number.d, and the name of the party to whom it is paid out is carefully recorded. The practice of keeping a memorandum which will show from whom he receives every bank note that passes through his hand is common, also, with the pairstaking London tradesman. It proved a fortunate thing for a gentleman of whom a little story is told. He had given his wife a £10 note. Their little child got hold of the portemonnie and destroyed the the note-as they supposed-by throwing it on the open fire. There would have been no hope of realizing on a greenback under such eireumstances. But fifty dollars was worth trying for. The number of the note was ascertained from the parties through whose hands it came to the gentleman, a sworn statement of the facts were filed at the bank, and after a year or so had passed without its having been presented for redemption the bank paid over the money. The bank takes in and pays out its gold coin by weight. Sometimes it sends out a sealed package and receives it again before the seal is broken, and yet deducts quite a sum from the amount at which it paid it out, to make good the loss-detected by the unerring scales-which occurred by the abration of the coins in transportation.

THE VALUE OF "Esq "-A young man, whose money didn't hold out as long as the State Fair, dropped into the telegraph office yesterday and sent a dispatch to his father in the interior to forward him cash to reach home with. When the receiving clerk saw that the diepatch read "To John Blank, esq.," he suggested that a saving could be effected by erasing the "caq."

"Well mebbe you think so, but I don't." re-plied the sender. "When I'm at home I call him 'dad' all day long, but when it comes down to black and white you've got to 'esquire' him right up to the pines, or walk home by the dirt oad, -Don't vou dare leave that off the roads as muddy as they are now!"

In about an hour the following answer was received: To-: John Blank, esq., forwards you $19 and can have more if you want it. JNO. BLANK, esq. "Didn't I tell ye?" chuckled the young man as he read is. "Did's common enough when we're all home and rushed to get fall wheat in. but the minute his back gets rested and a stranger comes along he weighs more to the toa than any 'etq.' on legs. I tell ye, you don't know a man till ye've have hoed corn with him."-Council Bluffs. A WEATHER PROPHECY. - As Chrismas day comes this year upon Thursday, the following quotation from an ancient MSS, in the British Museum is pertinent for publication at the outset of winter as a prophery of coming events the approaching year : If Xmas day on Thursday be, A windy winter we shall see; Windy weather in each week, And hard tempest, strong and thick; The summer shall be good and dry, Corn and beats must multiply; That year is good for lands to till. Kings and princes shall die by skill, If a child born that day shall be. It shall happen right well for he. Of deeds he shall be good and stable. Wise of speech and reasonable: Whose that day goes thieving about, He shall be punished without doubt;

And if sickness that day betide,

It shall quickly from thee glide. THE "Emigrant Aid Society" of Washington has issued from its headquarters in that city an appeal to the philanthropic people of the North for aid and sympathy in helping the exodus of the colored people of the South. The document, which is somewhat lengthy, is of the most highly inflamed partisan character, retailing the worn out slanders against the white people of the South, and painting the present condition of the negroes as "worse
